GUINNESS SIX NATIONS 2023

WALES vs ENGLAND

2023 GUINNESS SIX NATIONS

OPTA FACTS

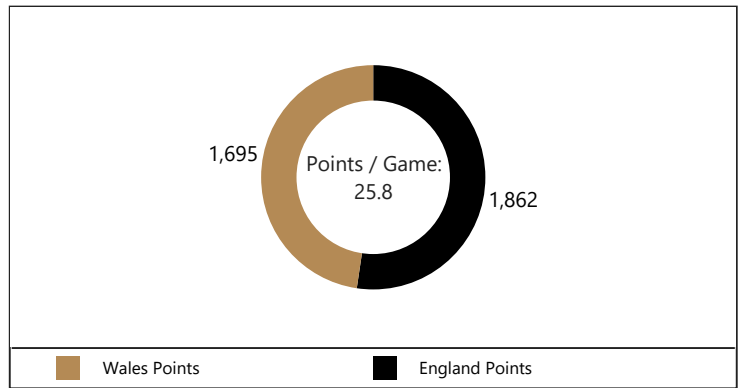

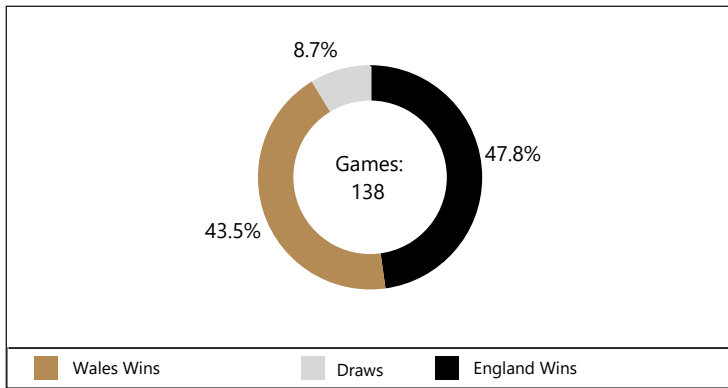

- England have won seven of their last nine meetings with Wales in the Guinness Six Nations (L2), however each of their last six victories in that run have come by margins of six points or fewer.
- Wales have won each of their last two Guinness Six Nations home games against England after losing three of their previous four (W1); three of the last four meetings between these two sides in Wales have been won by the side who trailed at halftime.
- Wales have lost their opening two matches of this year's Guinness Six Nations, only twice before have they opened their campaign with three straight defeats, both instances coming in Rugby World Cup years (2003 and 2007).
- England's last three victories in the Guinness Six Nations have all come after keeping their opponents scoreless in the first half (v Italy in 2023, v Italy and Wales in 2022); no other nation has kept their opponents scoreless in the first 40 minutes of a match more than once in the Championship since the beginning of 2022.
- England (9/9) and Wales (6/6) are two of the three teams to record a 100% scrum success rate in the Guinness Six Nations this year (also France 3/3), while only Scotland (97%) have recorded a better lineout success rate than England (95%).
- England (65%) and Wales (55%) are two of the three teams to have recorded over 50% territory in the Guinness Six Nations this year (also Ireland, 58%) and have made the most 22 entries of any team as a result (both 12.0 per game).
- England have gained 54 metres from their maul in the Guinness Six Nations this year, almost twice as many as the next best team (Italy, 28); England (2) and Wales (1) are two of just three teams to score a try directly from their maul this campaign (also Italy, 1).
- Wales have made the most dominant tackles of any team in the Guinness Six Nations this year (30); individually, four of the seven players to make 4+ dominant tackles could feature in this match – Welsh duo Josh Adams and Ken Owens (4 each) and England duo Ben Curry and Lewis Ludlam (4 each).
- England's Lewis Ludlam has committed two or more tacklers from 73% of his carries in the Guinness Six Nations this year, the highest rate of the 21 players to make 20+ carries, while Ellis Genge has committed three or more tacklers from 19% of his carries, also the best such rate.
- England's Alex Dombrandt has made more effective contributions at defensive rucks than any other player in the Guinness Six Nations this year (7), winning two jackal turnovers and slowing down a further five rucks.
