ENGLAND vs WALES

2024 GUINNESS MEN'S SIX NATIONS

OPTA FACTS

- England have won each of their last five Guinness Men's Six Nations home matches against Wales, however, each of their last four such victories have come by margins of fewer than seven points; England have led at halftime in each of their 12 home games against Wales in the Championship, the only side they're yet to trail against at the break at Twickenham.
- England won their opening game of this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations (27-24 v Italy), they have not lost a Round 2 fixture in a campaign after winning their opener since 2009, when they lost to Wales (15-23) after an opening round win against Italy (36-11).
- Wales have won just one of their last nine games in the Guinness Men's Six Nations (L8), however, their sole win in that period came away from home (29-17 v Italy in 2023), while they lost by just a single point in Round 1 this year (26-27 v Scotland).
- Despite suffering defeat, Wales' tally of 26 second-half points against Scotland was their most in the Championship since February 2017 (30 v Italy), while it was the most second-half points by a team who were held scoreless in the first half of a Five or Six Nations match since 1988 (England v Ireland, 0-3 at HT, 35-3 at FT).
- England beat more defenders than any other team in the opening round of this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations (25), while Wales beat the joint-second most (20, also Ireland and France) and were one of three teams to make a joint-high six line breaks (also Italy and Ireland).
- Wales were the only team with a tackle success rate of over 90% in the opening round of this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations (92%), while England had the lowest tackle success rate of any team in Round 1 (85%).
- Wales conceded just four penalties against Scotland in the opening round of this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations, their fewest in a single match in the Championship since also conceding four against England in February 2019.
- England's Maro Itoje (33) was one of three players to hit 30+ attacking rucks in the opening round of this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations, alongside Caelan Doris (31) and Wales' Dafydd Jenkins (35), while he won a turnover or slowed down three defensive rucks, the joint most of any player alongside Wales' Tommy Reffell.
- Wales' Cameron Winnett carried the ball for 139 metres in the opening round of this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations, more than any other player, with Aaron Wainwright tallying the most carry metres of any forward (97); meanwhile, their teammate Rio Dyer was the only player to make more than two line breaks last weekend (3).
- George North could make his 50th appearance in the Guinness Six Nations, becoming the fourth Welsh player to reach half a century in the Championship (since 2000), after Stephen Jones (50), Gethin Jenkins (56) and Alun Wyn Jones (67); North is also just three tries away from Brian O'Driscoll's all-time try scoring record in the Six Nations (23, O'Driscoll – 26).
