FRANCE vs ENGLAND

2024 GUINNESS MEN'S SIX NATIONS

OPTA FACTS

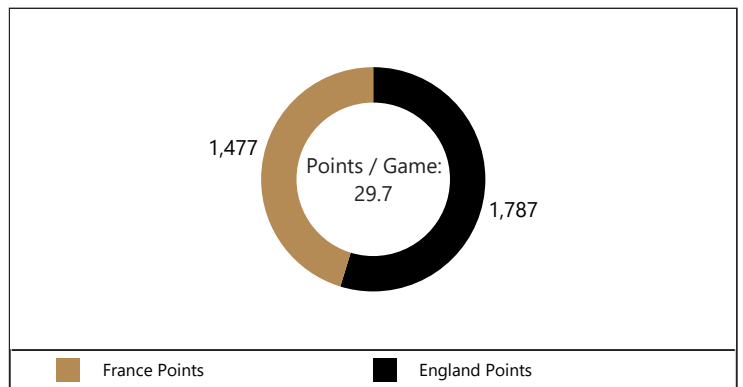

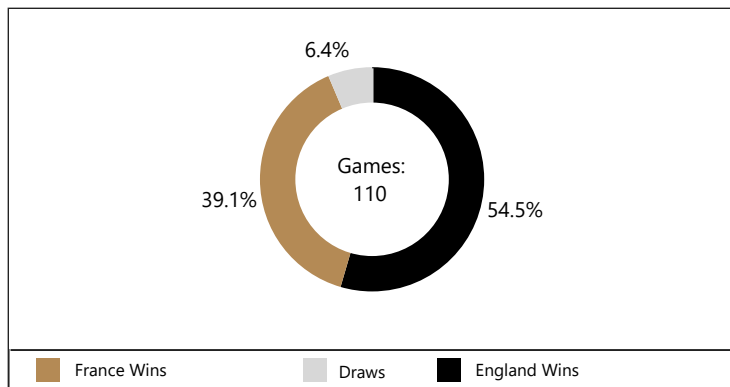

- France have won each of their last two Guinness Men's Six Nations matches against England and could win three in a row in this fixture for the first time since 2004-2006; France's most recent victory against England came by a margin of 43 points (53-10 in 2023), their biggest ever win against England in men's Test rugby.
- France are unbeaten in this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations since losing their opening match against Ireland (W2 D1) and scored five tries in their most recent game against Wales, as many as they'd managed across the opening three rounds.
- France are winless at home in the Guinness Men's Six Nations this year (D1 L1), however, they have won at least one home game each year since Italy joined the Championship in 2000; in fact, since 1970, only once have Les Bleus failed to register at least one home win in the Five or Six Nations (1999, L2).
- England have won three of their four games in this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations (L1), however, each of those wins came by margins of three points or fewer and saw England recover from a losing position at half-time; England have trailed at halftime in each of their matches this year, however not since the 1974 Five Nations have they trailed at the break in every match of a campaign.
- England have won one and lost one of their first two away games in this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations and could finish a Championship with two away wins for just the second time since 2016 (also 2020), however, they have won their final match just once across the last seven campaigns (D1 L5), in 2020.
- England (23%) and France (22%) have the highest tackle evasion rates of any teams in this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations, while France also have the highest carry dominance rate of any team in the Championship (34%).
- France have the highest tackle success rate of any team in this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations (90%), while England have the second lowest (86%), however, England possess the highest tackle dominance rate of any side in the Championship (9%).
- France have the fastest average attacking ruck speed of any team in this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations (3.5s), while England have the slowest (4.4s), however, England have slowed down opposition rucks to a greater extent than any other side (4.6s).
- France's Gregory Alldritt is the only forward with a carry dominance rate over 50% in this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations (67%, min. 20 carries) and has also crossed the gainline from a greater share of his carries than any other player in the Championship (78%).
- England's Ben Earl has made more carries (62) and beaten more defenders (20) than any other player in this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations; Earl needs to beat just six more defenders to surpass Billy Vunipola's tally of 25 in 2016 – the most ever by a forward in an edition of the Championship.
