ENGLAND vs NEW ZEALAND

2024 AUTUMN NATIONS SERIES

OPTA FACTS

- England have won just one of their last 10 men's Test matches against New Zealand (D1 L8), with that win coming in the semi-finals of the 2019 Rugby World Cup (19-7); however, England trailed at halftime in just three of those 10 matches (ahead five times, level twice), with the All Blacks coming from behind to win on four occasions.
- England drew against the All Blacks the last time they faced each other at Allianz Stadium (25-25 in November 2022), despite trailing 25-6 with just 10 minutes remaining; overall, New Zealand have won on 19 occasions away to England, the joint most of any team (level with Ireland and Wales), despite playing just 26 matches on English soil as the visiting team (73% win rate).
- England have won three of their last four Test matches on home soil (L1), including their most recent to deny Ireland a Grand Slam in this year's Guinness Men's Six Nations (23-22 in March), however, those three wins have all come by margins of just two points or fewer.
- New Zealand have lost just one of their last eight matches against European opposition (W6 D1), winning each of their last four in a row – their best run since winning seven such Tests on the bounce between 2017 and 2018.
- New Zealand recorded the best lineout success rate in The Rugby Championship this year (89%), while they won 16% of their opponents' lineouts – also the best rate of any team – stealing 11 lineouts in total, a joint-high alongside Australia. Meanwhile, England had the joint-best lineout success rate in the Guinness Men's Six Nations (91%, also Ireland).
- New Zealand made the most carries of any team in this year's edition of The Rugby Championship (756) and were the only side to carry for over 5000 metres in the tournament (5278), beating the most defenders (165) and making the most offloads (54) in the process.
- England were one of two teams to make 30+ kicks in play during the 2024 Guinness Men's Six Nations (30.2, Scotland 34.2) and retained possession from 17% of those kicks, the highest rate of any team in the Championship – New Zealand averaged the second most kicks in play per game of any team in this year's Rugby Championship (23.3) but had the competition's lowest retention rate (9%).
- England made the joint-most attacking 22 entries per game of any side in the 2024 Guinness Men's Six Nations (9.6, also Ireland), but scored the fewest points per entry of any side (2.1), while New Zealand scored the most points per attacking entry of any team in The Rugby Championship this year (3.0).
- Ardie Savea (New Zealand) made the most carries (89) and the second most tackles (84) of any player in the 2024 Rugby Championship, with his combined total of 173 being at least 14 more than any other player in the competition.
- Ben Earl (England) made the most carries (73) of any player in the Guinness Men's Six Nations this year and beat the most defenders of any forward (24); the Saracens back row also made the most carries of any player during England's Test series against New Zealand in July (44).
